Join us for an interactive workshop to envision a climate-resilient Redlands.

How can we prepare today for the realities of tomorrow? We are looking 50 years ahead to imagine a thriving, healthy community—and we need your voice to help map the way.

What We'll Explore Together:

In small, collaborative groups, we will identify the early actions we can take now to ensure a resilient future. Topics include:

- Sustainable Local Food Systems
- Biodiversity & Habitat Protection
- Low-Carbon Transportation
- Cooling Strategies for Homes & Neighborhoods
- Accessible Local Health Care

"This event invites people to look ahead and think about the community we want to leave to future generations." — Nick Reksten, University of Redlands

This event is part of ANCA's educational series, Resilient Living: Facing Challenges Together. For more information, visit @ancaredlands
